

Homework

Check your understanding by opening `calendar.xml` in Eclipse and answering these questions

- What is the root element of this instance?
- What do you think the name means?
- How many children does the root element have?
- How many children does the holiday element have?
- What does it mean that day elements are children of the date element and not the holiday element?